Mooney Fight Is Still On

IMPORTANT WAR NEWS BULLETINS

With Thomas J. Mooney's death sentence commuted to life imprisonment, opinion general throughout the city and state among those who have watched the case impartially that Governor William D. Stephens' action has failed to decide the vital, outstanding issues of the case—Mooney's guilt or innocence and his conviction on perjured testimony.

The fight to obtain a new trial for Mooney will continue despite the governor's action, declare the attorneys and supporters of Mooney.

Mooney himself admitted that if he were guilty of the preparedness parade bomb plot on July 22, 1916, hanging would be too good a punishment to fit the crime.

That stand has the concurrence of men and women everywhere.

They point out that if Mooney is guilty of any criminal part in the outrage at Steuart and Market Streets the worst punishment the law can impose is still too good for him.

Yet if Mooney is innocent why must he be compelled to spend the rest of his life behind prison bars?

And if there is a question of his guilt, why should he not be granted a new trial to settle for once and for all the matter of his guilt?

POLICE RAID POOL HALL GRAB TEN MEN GAMBLING

After watching them playing for three quarters of an hour, Officer Constantine and two plain clothes men unhinged the back door of Russel's pool hall, 517 Macdonald Avenue and arrested ten men in the card room who were playing poker in violation of the state and city laws.

Those arrested were: J. E. Vanderpool, Fred Markles, J. H. Ferguson, J. R. Ragloud, John Jasper, Harry Sargent, Donald Frazer, Joe Patiulla, Clarence Warren and L. H. Castro. They were packed off to the police station in two auto loads and were released on $25 bail apiece. The cases will be heard this morning by Judge Odell.

Russel the preprietor who was not in the room when the arrest was made claimed that the men were not gambling, but were playing cards for treats and that the police were mistaken. The police claim that they were gambling, and say them buy chips with money.

EXECUTION OF KAISER URGED BY M. E. BISHOP

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29. — Bishop William A. Quayle of the Methodist church, speaking at the City Club luncheon today, declared that any peace commission of the American people which does not make the German people pay to the uttermost farthing is not a peace commission of the American people, and that "until such time as the Kaiser is tried and executed for murder justice will not have room to sway in the world."

OUR RURAL FRIENDS

Every time the boys from the Ninth Street drug store of the La Moine Company drop in here for something they say to deliver it at the Main Store, Ninth Street. What d'ye know about that. Those fellows and the Elks and Ben Schapiro, Johnston, Waldy, Egan, Silvera, Byer and a few others out there in the rural district are all nice folks, like most suburbanites are, but my gracious, they ain't in it with us city folks who live up around Sixth and Macdonald! Every time any of those guys come to town the rest of us cosmopolitan chaps just naturally take their money away from them, like taking candy from a baby. It's so easy it's a shame to take it. Now you listen and hear that bunch snort when they read this.

THE UNION SERVICES

The union Thanksgiving services held at the Wesley church were well attended and a great intellectual treat. Dr. Sanborne preached the sermon, and it was a brilliant effort, as well as one touching the hearts of all. The other ministers all took part, one way or another, in the services, and that with the community singing and the splendid music of the choir, made a complete whole and brought forth praise and commendation from the large congregation present.

This is the first time this old sinner of a scribe has been to church in a long time, and, by jingo, we are going again. The water is fine. You'd better come in!

OLD TIME COOK HERE

James Smith one of the real old-time southern colored cooks is in Richmond introducing his cook book. Smith, who is 70 years old has worked as a professional cook in many of the famous hotels of the country and the book is the result of his years of experimenting with good things in the edible line. The book contains some hundreds of recipes from a "three-egg angel cake" to the latest fancies in salads.

See Marguarite Clark at the T and D

Not the least distinguishing feature of the latest Paramount photoplay, "Rich Man, Poor Man," at the Richmond Theatre today in which dainty Marguerite Clark is the star, is the high quality of her support. Frederick Warde, the veteran tragedian, will be seen as an irascible financier who has plenty of money, but little love in his life until Sweet Betty Wynne enters his household.

The story enunicates the truism that riches do not bring love to the lives of men whose mission in life is the acquisition of all the money in the world, and who, after gaining their ends, find themselves poor as Lazarus because loves does not exist in their sordid souls.

Professor and Mrs. Zumwalt visited their son, at Angel Island yesterday.

PRE-WAR WAGES ARE IMPOSSIBLE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—A sharp protest was today filed by Frank P. Walsh associate chairman with former President Taft of the National War Labor Board who has just resigned that position, against any effort to return to pre-war conditions. Mr. Walsh as a member of the Labor Board has insisted that wages and living conditions must be kept at top notch mark to expedite production. Today Mr. Walsh made public his views. He said:

"The voice of every intelligent citizen should be raised in warning and protest against the amazing proposal advanced in certain reactionary quarters that the country's industries should return to the pre-war days of wages and hours. The man who commits himself to that proposition either has no comprehension of the facts or he is wilfully placing himself in disregard of every humane and decent thing for which our nation has been fighting on the battlefields of France.

"Is Your Name Written Here?"

We went to church Thanksgiving day, as promised, and expected of course to see all our wicked contemporaries there, as well as the entire city council, and not a one of them showed up! Ain't it just awful how sinful some people are.

Con Bastian is a very accommodating and painstaking man about the delivery of the Bulletin. This shop being closed Thursday he came over to our residence with it. It pays to render good service, for people appreciate it.

If there is not a mob of people at the Jones & Walker store this morning at 10 o'clock when those prices go into effect, which might necessitate the police and fire departments, it will be funny. The women will be surely going "over the top."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Engelking and three kiddies, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Poage and one especially fine yearling kiddie, all spent Thanksgiving day at the editorial domicile, and we all sure did have a delightful and enjoyable time and were thankful for it, and are yet.

Mrs. C. T. Berk is recovering after having been confined to her home with the influenza for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] and three children of Selma motored here yesterday to visit Mrs. Logan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Odell on the occasion of this venerable couple celebrating their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary.

City Clerk Faris was out at the city hall yesterday as also was Jimmy McVittie, both having a hard time with the "flu." It looks as though Faris was sent through a shrinker and the same with Jimmy, both losing their valued hay windows.

Elmo Wheeler was listed in today's casuality list as missing in action. He was employed by the Standard Oil Company, but no other news of him could be secured.

Bill Sargent enjoyed a fine Thanksgiving in San Francisco with friends.

Miss Margaret Knoble is spending her Thanksgiving vacation with friends at Santa Cruz.

Joe Casey writes from France that he was enjoying a seven-day furlough at one of the most famous French watering places.

F. S. Foster well known Pacific Gas and Electric Company employee has been promoted to the position of collector.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mass entertained their daughter and son-in-law over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss Mocho enjoyed their Thanksgiving dinner with Berkley friends.

Mrs. A. Chatterton, 711 Summit Place, who was seriously ill of influenza for the past six weeks, is recovered. She is very grateful to Mrs. R. E. Redmond and Dr. Carpenter for their care.

Family Unites In Thanksgiving Dinner

What is conceded to be the largest family gathering for Thanksgiving was held at the home of J. R. Johnson, 607 Main Street, yesterday, where 27 persons were served at a huge table with Turkey and all its trimmings.

Three busy cooks were kept on the go to furnish the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Harold Henry, Ruth, Lillian, Fleeta and Florence Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mason, Laurel, Lloyd, Clyde, and Edwin Mason; Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, Kenneth and Karmel Wilson, E. C. Mason, T. Price, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Miner, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miner, Cora, the baby and Florence Miner, and F. F. Miner.

STANDARD BOY DIES IN FRANCE

The death of his son, Vernon Colby, was revealed to Patrolman B. Curran, 6290 Colby Street, Oakland, at the Thanksgiving dinner yesterday by a telegram from the war department. The young man was well known at the Standard Oil, where he was employed.

WHIST FOR NEW PRIEST HOUSE

A benefit whist party to raise funds toward a new priest house, is to be given on the evening of Dec. 6 at San Pablo by the ladies of St. Paul's church. The present priest house has been built for many years and a new one is needed badly. Besides the whist there will be dancing.

Rev. Sanborn received a letter from his son in France and who writes that he is recovering from the effects of two trips over the top.

NO MONEY PANIC IS TO BE FEARED

NEW YORK, Nov 29.—Peace will not bring panic. Financial experts here are confident of this. Undoubtedly, prices of food, clothing and most other commodities will drop, and there will be some friction between labor and capital, due to sudden increases in the available supply of labor. But these conditions will not lead to hard times or financial panic, financiers says.

Conditions immediately following the Civil War are pointed to in corroboration of this belief. Al though wholesale prices fell off more than 30 per cent between January 1 and July 1, 1865, there were remarkably few business failures. During the entire year 1865 there were but 500 failures as compared with 5000 in 1861.

The first decline in prices of commodities is expected to be shown in wholesale markets. Most retail merchants already have anticipated this decline, and are keeping on hand only the lightest possible stock. When prices begin to drop, buying activity will be resumed and the increased buying will tend to stabilize the markets.

WALTERS BREAKS HIS COLLAR BONE YESTERDAY

C. O. Walters, chief clerk in the yardmaster's office at the Santa Fe terminal, suffered a fractured collar bone when thrown to the street from a suddenly moving street car at Macdonald Avenue and First Street. He was standing on the car steps at the time of the accident.

Walters was treated by Dr. St. John Hely and removed to his rooms at the Windsor hotel.
